

Marion County, FL

Home to nearly 350,000 residents

Marion may be Florida's fifth-largest county, but it's home to a friendly, small-town charisma, a lively downtown, an internationally-renowned equine circuit, and scores of outdoor adventure opportunities.

In Marion County, you're less than two hours from beaches on both coasts, theme parks and professional and college sports. Enjoy the convenient proximity, but leave the traffic and taxes behind.

Then escape to your hometown. Zip line over lime rock "canyons"; explore the rugged beauty of the Ocala National Forest on horseback; or experience our world-famous springs, lakes and rivers by swimming, diving, paddle boarding or boating. Enjoy concerts, farmers markets, festivals, unique dining and active nightlife on the downtown square.

Step back in history at the national landmark of Fort King where a dual-pronged attack by Chief Osceola and the Seminole Nation sparked the second Seminole War.

Relive the end days of the gangster era and the birth of the FBI at the impeccably-preserved Ma Barker hangout nestled on the shores of Lake Weir.

Witness economic growth forge ahead in 2017 as AutoZone Inc. joins fellow Fortune 500 company FedEx in building a distribution center at the rapidly developing Ocala/Marion County Industrial Park.

Marion County Building Safety

Providing unparalleled efficient and quality service to commercial and residential customers.

The department

Marion County Building Safety ensures a safe built environment. The department consists of 40 employees who issue permits, review plans, verify contractor licenses and perform inspections for each project in unincorporated Marion County.

To better serve Marion County's growing commercial and residential development needs, Building Safety staff provide specialized assistance with county-related inspections, licensing, permitting and plan reviews.

The position

As the Building Safety director, you'll manage all aspects of the department while ensuring the proper regulation of the construction industry with respect to building and related codes.

You will quickly become known as a knowledgeable resource for the citizens of Marion County through your regular presentations to the commission, and interactions with county administration, community groups and the License Review Board.

The qualifications

- Bachelor's degree in Construction Management, Public Administration or related field.
- Florida Building Code Administrator certification.
- Ten years of progressively responsible supervisory experience in a construction-related field.
- Valid driver's license.
